Residential Aged Care Fee Information

Introduction

Entering residential aged care for the first time can be an emotionally difficult period for you and your family. However, it is important you understand the cost implications of residential aged care.

The below information is designed to help you familiarise yourself with the various terms used and the fees and charges associated with residential aged care.

With the introduction of the new Aged Care Act 2024 on 1 November 2025 a person will pay fees under one of two fee arrangements.

What a person pays in aged care is determined by Services Australia or Department of Veterans' Affairs following a means assessment.

1 July 2014 Fee Arrangements – this applies if the person enters care on or after 1 November 2025 but was approved for or accessing a Home Care Package on or before 12 September 2024.

- Basic Daily Care Fee
- Means Tested Care Fee
- Accommodation Costs

1 November 2025 Fee Arrangements – for persons entering care on or after 1 November 2025

- Basic Daily Care Fee
- Hotelling Supplement Contribution
- Non-Clinical Care Contribution
- Accommodation Costs

The attached Fee Schedule provides the current thresholds, daily fees and caps.

Means Assessment - All prospective aged care residents require a means assessment by Services Australia. Based on their circumstances they will be required to complete and submit either:

Residential Aged Care Property Details Form SA485 – for persons on a pension and own their own home - <https://www.servicesaustralia.gov.au/sa485>

OR

Residential Aged Care Calculation of your cost of Care SA457 for non-pensioners - <https://www.servicesaustralia.gov.au/sa457>

For those on an aged pension with no home it is recommended you call Services Australia on 1800 227 475 and request a pre commencement fee letter

Please note: Limestone Coast Local Health Network is not a financial advisor and therefore unable to provide financial planning advice. It is recommended you speak to your own financial advisor / seek independent financial advice prior to admission to aged care

Accommodation Costs – not all residents pay an accommodation payment (DAP) or contribution (DAC), only those that have assets above the asset free threshold as detailed in the fee schedule.

Persons who qualify for low means status and are eligible for Government Support with their accommodation costs will pay a Daily Accommodation Contribution (DAC). Services Australia set contribution amounts based on a resident's income and assets. The contribution amounts can change over time and do not depend on the agreed room price.

A DAC can be calculated as a Refundable Accommodation Contribution (RAC). Please speak with our Aged Care Liaison Officer for further information on this.

Persons assessed as not being eligible for Government Support will be liable for the full room cost or Refundable Accommodation Deposit (RAD) as set out by Limestone Coast Local Health Network (LCLHN). The options for payment are:

- i. Refundable Accommodation Deposit (RAD)¹ – a lump sum refundable deposit that is refunded when you leave care less retentions and any amounts you agree to draw down from the lump sum; or
- ii. Daily Accommodation Payment (DAP)² – the non-refundable daily equivalent you pay if you elect not to pay a RAD invoiced fortnightly; or
- iii. Combination – a part RAD and part DAP. A combination example is noted on the fee schedule; however, a resident can choose the amount that suits their financial needs. The Aged Care Liaison Officer (ACLO) can assist in providing RAD/DAP payment scenarios.

Until you decide to pay by lump sum you will pay the daily payment (DAP). You can pay a lump sum anytime after you enter care.

¹ Refundable Deposit Retention – if you pay a lump sum, your provider keeps 2% of your lump sum per year. This amount is not refunded when you leave care. After 5 years in care, no further retention amounts will be deducted.

² Daily accommodation payment (DAP) indexing – if you pay by DAP, this amount will increase due to indexation on 20 March and 20 September each year. Indexation does not apply to daily accommodation contributions (DAC) paid by residents eligible for government assistance with their accommodation costs.

Our Aged Care Liaison Officer (ACLO) works with each prospective resident and / or their representative providing an estimate of the fees and accommodation charges, issuing the agreement and other associated documentation pertaining to permanency.
